Fiction writer, poet, translator, and literary scholar Kirk Nessel will read selections from his work and discuss writing in several genres at Lock Haven University. A professor at Allegheny College, Nessel has published The Stories of Raymond Carver: A Critical Study (Ohio University Press) and two collections of short stories: Paradise Road, winner of the Drue Heinz literature prize (University of Pittsburgh Press) and Mr. Agreeable (Mammoth Press). Forthcoming are his poetry book, Saint X (Lewis Clark Press), and his book of translations, Alphabet of the World: Selected Works by Eugene Montejo (University of Oklahoma Press). The reading is free and open to the public. Books will be available for purchase and signing. In addition to the evening performance, Nessel will be visiting classes and meeting with student groups.
