Subject: HIST301 Medieval History updated syllabus

The faculty of the Department of History, Political Science, Economics, and Geography proposes to update the syllabus for HIST301 Medieval History, and to reinstate this course from moratorium.

It appears that HIST301 was removed from the published catalog in 2004. Since then, we have offered versions of the course as HIST359 and HIST328. We hope to resume offering the course as HIST301 every fourth semester.

I apologize for the considerable delay in my getting this to you from the Arts and Sciences subcommittee.

Attached find the proposed revised syllabus. I would be happy provide copies of the existing syllabus if necessary.
